No computer required for fun Cbay day!

LODGE St Olaf from Cruden Bay has come up with something a little bit different for the theme of its latest fund raising day on Saturday, May 27.

You will all have heard about online Auction sites, well without drawing any obvious comparisons the organisers are hosting a positively off-line auction located in the village hall with a wide array of donated items up for grabs.

The auction will be preceded on the same day with a car boot sale running between 10am and 1pm in the old primary school car park and pitches are on sale to anyone interested in picking up an extra few quid by selling off all their unwanted treasures.

If your are interested in securing a pitch you can pick up an application form from appointed shops in Cruden Bay, or alternatively download an application form from the Cruden Bay Community website, download details can be found on the home page of www.crudenbay.org.

So whether you want to raise a bit of pin money for yourself or your organisation or if picking up a bargain is more in mind, come along to the C-Bay Auction and join in the fun.
